

JOIN US FOR A DISCUSSION ON:

Re-imagining Global Security and the Role of International Institutions in the 21st Century

NOVEMBER 9 / 12:00 PM ET /

The nature of conflict and cooperation are changing fundamentally, as well as the understanding of what kind of adaptations in security policy would promote the wellbeing of sovereign states and the human collectivity, inclusively conceived. Particularly important is the desirability and feasibility of enhanced roles for international institutions, especially those within the UN System as framed by its Charter and evolution since 1945.

MARY KALDOR

Professor of Global Governance & Director of the Conflict and Civil Society Research Unit, London School of Economics

CECELIA LYNCH

Professor of Political Science at the University of California, Irvine

MANORANJAN MOHANTY

Editor of the Council for Social Development Journal

IAN JOHNSTONE

Professor of International Law, Fletcher School of Diplomacy, Tufts University

ANTHONY AREND

Professor of Government and Chair of the Department of Government, Georgetown University